

Aaron L. Solomon

Position: Associate

Practice Group: Public Policy / Appellate / Commercial Litigation

Education: University of Chicago, J.D., 2002
Wesleyan University, B.A., 1997 with honors

Bar Admissions: Colorado, Illinois

Aaron Solomon focuses on both commercial litigation and public policy/appellate law. Mr. Solomon has represented clients in a variety of civil proceedings including breach of contract and employment matters and has participated in appellate proceeding before the courts of Colorado, Florida and New Jersey and the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals. He is a contributor to the Rocky Mountain Appellate Blog, which he co-authors with Peter Krumholz and Richard Westfall.

Mr. Solomon graduated from the University of Chicago Law School in 2002, where he served as a Comments and Developments Editor for the Chicago Journal of International Law. Mr. Solomon received his Bachelor of Arts with Honors from Wesleyan University's College of Social Studies in 1997.

Mr. Solomon joined Hale Friesen, LLP in 2007. Prior to joining the firm, he was an associate at the Chicago firm of Wildman Harrold Allen & Dixon, LLP, where his practice focused on commercial litigation. Mr. Solomon served as a clerk to Magistrate Judge Geraldine Soat Brown in 2002-2003.